

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTATION
PROGRAMME
1981/1982

The election of farmer representatives on yaya basis or at village level and the formation of Agrarian Services Committees during the 1980/1981 Maha season would help to remove the short comings that were prevalent under the rural institution set up.

The agricultural implementation programme for Maha 1981/82 will be formulated with the increased participation of farmer representatives and agricultural officials.

In the Districts, the implementation programme will be prepared at three levels.

(1) Cultivation Committee Level:

At the village level the Cultivation Officer, Krushikarma Viapthi Sevaka, Grama Sevaka and the selected farmer representatives will comprise the Committee for the preparation of the Agricultural Implementation Programme. If necessary, representatives of RD Societies, Co-operative Societies and other voluntary organizations may be coopted into the Committee. The Cultivation Officer will act as the Coordinator and he will be responsible for the registration and submission of the programme of the ASC.

(2) Agrarian Services Committee Level

The preparation of the implementation programme will be done by the Agrarian Service Committee. The Divisional Officer will be responsible for the registration and submission of the Programme to the GA. The ASC should study and examine the proposals submitted by the Village Level Committee. The Agricultural Instructor and the Extension Officer of the Minor

Export Crops Department should be held responsible for the technical proposals of the programme. When ever, the AGA is not a member of the ASC the GA should use his discretion and obtain the services of the AGA to the Committee

(3) District Level:

At the District Level, a Sub-Committee consisting of the GA or his senior representative and the Assistant Director of Agriculture, ACAS, ACCD, Deputy Director of the Agriculture Development Authority, District Extension Officer, MEC Department and Statistical Officer should study carefully the proposals submitted by the ASC and make necessary changes after considering the available resources and past year's targets. However, any changes should be made with the consent of the ASC.

The Agricultural Implementation Programme at the three levels must be prepared according to the stipulated time schedule and high priority must be given for the formulation.
